CLASS 5 MATHEMATICS ASSIGNMENT 8 26TH JUNE 2020

LENGTH

Changing centimetres into metres

$$100\text{cm} = 1 \text{ Metre}$$

To change centimetres into metres, we divide the number given by 100.

Example 1

Change 475cm into metres

$$100\text{cm} = 1 \text{ M}$$

Therefore,  $475 \div 100$

$$= 475/100$$

$$= 475/100 \text{ Metres or } 4.75\text{M}$$

Example 2

Change 2565cm into metres

$$100\text{cm} = 1\text{M}$$

Therefore,  $2565 \div 100$

$$= 2565/100$$

$$= 2565/100 \text{ Metres or } 25.65\text{M}$$

Exercise

1. Change these measurements into metres

(a) 245cm

(b) 425cm

(c) 535cm

(d) 140cm

(e) 780cm

(f) 340cm

CLASS 5 SCIENCE ASSIGNMENT 8 26TH JUNE 2020

ENERGY.

Sound.

Types of sound.

Loud sound- produced when a book is dropped from a higher point.

Soft sound- Produced when a book is dropped from a few centimetres from a table

Volume: - This is the extent of loudness or softness of a sound.

Pitch: - This is highness or lowness of sound.

Factors affecting the pitch of a sound.

- ✓ The length of the wire.
- ✓ Tightness of the wire.
- ✓ Thickness of the wire.
- ✓ Type of material.

Noise pollution.

This is unpleasant sound that is made when many people talked at a time.

Effects of noise pollution.

- Noise makes people become less alert.
- Frequent noise can make people feel uncomfortable.
- Loud noise is dangerous as it damage our ears.

Heat.

Transfer of heat.

This is the flow of heat from one point of matter to another.

Heat transfer in three methods:-

- ❖ Radiation- This is a method of heat transfer where the source of heat is above the object or is at the same level with object. It normally occurs in gases. It does not require a medium for its transfer.
- ❖ Convection- This is a method of heat transfer where the source of heat is below the object, normally occurs in gases and liquids (fluids).
- ❖ Conduction:- This is a method of heat transfer in solids mainly metals.

Use of good conductors of heat

- They are used to make utensils e.g. kettles, saucepans, irons, boilers, sufuria etc.

Uses of poor conductors of heat.

- Making handles of utensils.
- Used to prevent water from being heated by sun.
- When we feel cold, we put on warm clothes to prevent the heat produced by the body from escaping into the cold air.
- During cold weather, birds fluff out their feathers to prevent the heat produced by their bodies from escaping.
